- 1 Kwame Nkrumah Memorial Park & Mausoleum

This site features both a museum and a mausoleum. The museum highlights Ghana's struggle for independence. The mausoleum is the final resting place for Ghana's first President, Dr. Kwame Nkrumah, and his wife Fathia Nkrumah.

- 2 Black Star Gate and Independence Square

Just down the street from the Kwame Nkrumah Memorial Park is this Black Star Gate. Commissioned by Kwame Nkrumah to celebrate the nation's independence, it is the site of the annual independence celebrations as well as other national events.

- 3 Oxford Street in the Osu Neighborhood

Vibrant and fast paced, this well-known street is full of vendors, restaurants, and people. It's a great first full immersion into the Ghanaian culture and its people.

- 4 W.E.B. DuBois Center

The center hosts the home, library, and final resting place of William Edward Burghardt DuBois. It is also home to The African-American Association of Ghana and a great place to meet Black American expats in Ghana.

5 Jamestown Neighborhood

The oldest district of Accra, Jamestown is full of culture and people to converse with. Both the Ussher Fort and the Jamestown Lighthouse are located there. Ussher Fort previously served as a prison and Dr. Kwame Nkrumah was imprisoned there during the colonial era. The Jamestown Lighthouse, built in the 1930s, is an iconic landmark of the neighborhood.

6 Cape Coast Castle

A few hours west of Accra and an UNESCO World Heritage Site, the Cape Coast Castle played a significant role in the gold and slave trades.

7 Aburi Mountains

A scenic part of Ghana outside of the city, the Aburi Mountains are inviting and the people are welcoming. A good place to relax and connect with local culture, Aburi is just north of Accra.

8 Sky Bar 25

Offering beautiful views of Accra, Sky Bar 25 is a great place to meet people and discuss business. This upscale restaurant is located near the Accra Mall.

9 Auntie Esther's

Searchable on Google Maps as Exmac Fabrics, this fabric shop is run by Auntie Esther and features beautiful batik fabric. It can be found a few blocks from Oxford Street on 10th Street.
